FARMVILLE.

Farmville is getting accustomed to the rush of the season again and every one seems to be enjoying themselves to the utmost. The season has been unusually quiet and the social events somewhat few and would not have been a good time for ladies to launch the spirit and aggressiveness is demanding.

The interest of music seems to be on before and fraternal orders and societies grow in strength daily. The Warehouse here does a rushing business and Farmville people always help the weed in coming to market in fine fix. The farmers Association for mutual protection and help has been organized and is now maintained and very satisfactory, and for the old farmer friends are planning the seeds sure to come in abundance.

The Normals are with us again and going on beside to all the neighbors of our town and the new girls in all our town.

The Farmville Warehousing Company has been receiving more tobacco of late, and it is to be hoped that it will continue to do so. The warehouse is one of the most convenient and best conducted houses in the trade. It has been one of the most progressive and successful business enterprises known in this town's history and its success has been due to the watchful care, tireless energy and sound judgment of Mr. G. H. Ramsey, who has been in the business of the tobacco and stems of its most remarkable career.

It is gives out that the Randolph Hotel will be remodelled and the Mrs. Gilliam, who has been in charge of the house will assume control. There is room enough in Farmville for two fine hotels.

Some people are beginning to believe that the politics from the dispensary will run the town government and eventually pay off the entire debt of the city, and this looks reasonable to the writer, has been taught to believe the whiskey in it is simply water moved.

The Duke of Farmville is a character, one of the sights of the place and the finest mule at our sale.

While that noted kindergarten teacher, Miss Woodcock, of Boston was with us, she was so interested with the affairs of the city, that Mr. Watkins was induced to call and be benefitted by his prescriptions. As she was bound to say that he had been of more service to her than some of the noted specialists of the day. Those of us who have known Mr. Watkins long and well, have learned to bear her statement. He is the "grand old man" of his profession, and has the undivided physicians of Farmville.

Work on the Normal building is now to be resumed and progressed vigorously, but to complete them another appropriation will be needed, and every one feels will not fail to provide generously for the one school that is supported by the State Control. Our representative Hon. J. J. Gunn, can be relied on to secure such as much in this respect as any other living man.

The express business at this point has no increase, but the registered letters and wagons are kept busy. At one time Major J. R. Martin had charge of this office, and now they are separate and distinct and all in charge are "up and at it" all the time. And what is true in the material world is so in the social, there is no stand still. The increase has been simply marvelous. This is an unsupported society as that of "Odd" Smithdom is to write of it in a good office and to do it justice would require a volume. Suffice it to say that the writer was with the throngs on the occasion of seeing some one else in love in the regular.

Announcements have been made of the marriage of Mr. Thompson, a very prominent young man of the county, on February 8 to Miss Hall. After the "Tour" the happy pair will take house at Mrs. Watkins' and of the new comers and very welcome to some of our homes.

The Presbyterians in many sections of the county are to have their services in their church on the second Sunday in each month, Dr. Hoge of Lynchburg, will conduct services.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hunter visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carwile, of Charlotte, last Thursday.

OLD BUCKINGHAM.

THE GRAND OLD COUNTY PHOTOGRAPHED.

Many Interesting Reports Made of Her People.

Buckingham.

The Democratic Caucus has nominated Judge George J. Huddley to succeed himself, which is as it should be for he has made a good Judge. The Legislature should change things in some way as regards the present rate of taxation, under the old Constitution, and with the county courts in vogue the rate of tax tion was 40 cents for State and 60 cents for county levy, while now with the county courts abolished we are paying $1.30 on the $100 of taxable values.

We have the same bad roads, we are much inconvenienced by having to wait three months to get a little matter decided in the courts, and besides it was of material advantage to the county people to assemble as they did one day in each month. Give us back the county courts or something better."

An effort is being made to get a dispensary at this place. If whisky or brandy is to be sold, as it seems to be done now, the town or county may as well make the profit on it's sale.

Mr Lewis Williams, deputy Sheriff of this county has purchased the old parsonage house and lot from the Presbyterian church and will make his home here. Mr. Williams, it will be remembered, married Miss Janie Forbes, and they have many friends and acquaintances here.

Master Peyton Moss, the youngest son of Judge John R. Moss, has been appointed a page in the House of Delegates Peyton is a singularly attractive child, very handsome, has a musical voice and such winning little ways, that he will doubtless become a general favorite among the members of the legislature.

Two young farmers left here last week and sold tobacco on the Farmville market, one having a nice lot of leaf, for which he only got $7.50 and $.0.50 while the other had a bad lot of mouldy tobacco he was willing to take $8 for, and it brought $10 per hundred. It seems to be a kind of lottery business about the price.

There is a Land and Loan Association formed here and farmers and land owners can borrow money readily now if they need it.

We are much interested in Mr. Koiner's scheme to import laborers here and the Legislature should by all means make the $10,000 appropriation, but we fear that when the mess come here and find that 50 cents per day is the best price to be had for farm labor and that $1.50 can be made in the mines, they will do as the negroes here are doing, go off and leave only the feeble and helpless with us.

[Our correspondent ought to touch up his Board of Supervisors and see how wisely the money is being spent in the county. The new Constitution did reduce the State tax from 40 to 35 cents, and in other ways reduced the tax. —Ed.]

Boiling.

Sickness seems to be the order around here. We are glad to learn that Mr. W. E. Hardiman and little daughter, Edma are improving.

There have been a good many deaths around here. Miss Sallie Sharp died last Thursday, 4th, 1906 She was 16 years of age and was a kind and considerate young lady with many admirable traits of character. She was the daughter of Mr. Alex. Sharp. Her remains were laid to rest in the old family burying ground. She leaves a father, mother, four sisters to mourn their loss. She called her parents to her bedside and told them she would have to depart from them. The write.'s best sympathy goes with the bereaved family.

BIG TOBACCO SALE.

Nearly Two Million Dollars for the Black Patch.

November 22, 1905, the Farmers' Protective Association concluded negotiations with the Regie, or Italian Agency for about 5,000 hogsheads of Regie types of tobacco, thus bringing in the last outstanding buying interest that has stood aloof opposing and refusing to buy from the organization.

Certainly this is a great victory for the Farmers' Organization. Nothing so great has occurred in this country since the people set up to fight the trust, and the result demonstrates that the power of the people is stiff, and that the honest masses can be depended upon in all emergencies to do the right thing at the right time, and never oppressive to anyinterest.

The Leaf-Chro icle rejoices with the farmers over this great and far-reaching victory that means more than we can express. It is the proudest day in our life, but while rejoicing, we are not disposed to crow or gloat over the result, because it takes two to make a trade, and we must congratulate the Italian buyers on having come around to see the right side of this question, dealing fairly. We sincerely hope they will see it to their interest to continue their new and friendly relation, as Mr. Dunnington has expressed his purpose to do. The misfortune to all is that the Regie people did not see this way out six months ago and saved themselves half a million dollars squandered in fighting the Association, and, in doing so, would have scattered blessings, instead of animosity all over the Black Patch.

The Leaf Chronicle has fought this fight on principle, along the only line that looked to victory Many friends have differed with us for the aggressive contest made, charging us with vicious purposes all of which we have borne patiently, trusting to the final outcome to set us right. Such a course has not been in accord with our taste and personal feelings, but, nevertheless, we are here representing a great people, a great interest and many interests, and could not let personal feelings, but principle, better judgment and the highest duty we have ever been called on to perform, control in directing the campaign which we foresaw was bound to fail unles fired to the highest tension. Accordingly, six months ago, we told the farmers, figuratively speaking, that they would have to get their guns and shoot straight by expanding to their guns in the last ditch and firing straight at the white in the enemy's eyes, the fight has been gloriously won and the victory is grand both for the victor and the vanquished.

Now, the opposition, knowing the farmers' pluck, will be glad to stand in and be friends, aiding the building up of the greatest tobacco market the world has ever known, where all interests will be recognized and fairly treated.

The farmers have all stood faithfully to their pledges, while the leaders have worked unceasingly for this result. Mr. Ewing has almost worn out his life in his devotion and untiring energy, working day and night, going here and there, looking after hundreds of details, patching up plans and speeding the wounds of dollars of his own good money. His wonderful magnetism and executive ability have been felt throughout the Black Patch, like a kindly spirit brooding over the opposite and suffering farmers. Then there are others. C. P. Warfield, the salesman, Col. C. T. Young, the Inspector; J. Edwards, the classifier, with all helpers Then there is the Executive Committee, the noble-at, truest, self-sacrificing men any country ever boasted of. President Fort has been sick all summer, and was unable to give much of his valuable help. Vice-President Chas. E. Barker has been a whole team in the fight; also Vice-President Frank Walton, Chairman Polk Prince, Cave Reynolds, George Reynolds, George Snadon and several others have exercised their splendid executive ability in managing affairs to a successful termination.

The parties to the final transaction in closing the big deal were as follows: Representing the farmers' Association—F. G. Ewing, C. P. Warfield and C. T. Young; the Italian Co.tra tor:—W. G. Dunnington, Ed. R. Tandy, and Mr. Fairley of Hopkinsville.

The tobacco was priced, every hogshead on its grade and merit, the price ranging from $6.60 to $12, making an average of $8.85 per hundred on all Regie types, amounting to 5,000 hogsheads. It will require six or eight weeks to go over the types and get the tobacco out for shipment, and so soon as this is done, and warehousemen can go over the bills, calculating each man's share, every farmer having tobacco in the deal will be paid. It will be useless to bother the work-rs with enquiries, as it will only hinder them.

This is surely a great thing for all our people, the trade as well as the farmers, for this trade practically clears the way for the sale of the remainder left on hand, about six thousand hogsheads, which Bremen wants and will now order as fast as can be shipped out. These sales will, within three months' time, put nearly $2 000,000 in circulation in the Black Patch, and Oh! won't we have a big time!—The Tennessee Chronicle.
